ARREST NEAR IN NURSE MURDER

Clews to Inez Reed's Slayers Followed

GOVERNMENT SLEUTHS AID IN TRACING CRIME

Identification of the Oakland Nurse Graduate as Victim of San Mateo Crime Gives Clews to Those Responsible

Brother, Sister and Father of Dead Girl Are Puzzled, as They Knew of No Men With Whom She Had Associated

Evidence that will lead to the arrest of the murderer of Miss Inez Elizabeth Reed of Oakland is expected to be in possession of the police before night, and it is possible that the persons who threw the body of the nurse over the bluff on the Crystal Springs road, near San Mateo last Saturday, will be behind bars before tomorrow morning.

The identification of the body that had been a cause of mystery for five days came yesterday afternoon, when Robert Stevens of San Francisco, brother-in-law of Miss Reed, visited the morgue at the suggestion of Mrs. Maude Frankenstein, 744 Eleventh street, this city, with whom Miss Reed had been staying since her arrival here from Fort Riley, Kansas, late in February.

One theory of the police is that Miss Reed followed from Fort Riley to this city the man responsible for her condition, and this afternoon copies of telegrams received and sent by the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph Company in the period that elapsed between her departure from the East and arrival here were being inspected in the belief that there will be disclosed the identity of the man. The police believe that Miss Reed expected to be married on arrival here, and that when she found herself disappointed she chose the course that resulted in her death.

Police of the bay cities and of San Mateo county are being aided in the search for the murderer by Federal operatives, who are acting on instructions from Washington to do all possible to bring to justice the man who caused the death of the former war nurse who was in Oakland on a furlough that would have expired in a few days.

DETECTIVES SEEK OAKLAND EVIDENCE

Police Detectives Frank McConnel and Charles Gallatin of the San Francisco police department, and Oak and San Mateo, to confer with Mrs. Frankenstein, who is the last person who knew Miss Reed well to have seen her. So far the detectives have not disclosed the value of the information they received from Mrs. Frankenstein.

Before Miss Reed went to Fort Riley, she was a nurse in the Letterman General Hospital in the Presidio of San Francisco, and the detectives and government operatives are seeking possible clews there.

All the evidence in possession of the police indicates that after leaving the residence of Mrs. Frankenstein, Miss Reed went to San Mateo, Mrs. Frankenstein told the police that on three occasions Miss Reed remained away all night and offered no explanation as to where she had been. The police believe she was in consultation with the man responsible for her condition, or seeking for a physician on these occasions. They account for her presence in San Mateo, where she was seen the night before her body was found, on the ground that being prominent as a nurse in San Francisco and Oakland, she desired an obscure place in which to undergo the operation. Whether this operation was bungled by physicians or some inexperienced person was responsible, it is certain, the police say, that the girl died in agony from the ordeal. They are certain the body was thrown into the gulch to hide the tragic end of the illegal operation.

KNEW NOTHING OF NURSES CONDITION

Mrs. C. H. Edwards, in whose home at 1141 Eleventh street, this city, the dead woman lived for a week as the guest of Mrs. Frankenstein, who also lives at the house, made the following statement today:

"I knew nothing of the condition of Miss Reed. About February 26 she came to my home direct from Fort Riley, Kansas. She had with her only a small grip. Mrs. Frankenstein was not at home when she arrived, but when she did come home made arrangements without consulting me, for Miss Reed to stay. She was Mrs. Frankenstein's guest, not mine, and I don't suppose I spoke more than a dozen words to her. Certainly I did not know her condition."

"She seemed to be in unusually good spirits, and so far as her actions were concerned did not seem to have a care in the world. If Mrs. Frankenstein knew of her condition or of any of her plans she has not said anything to me about it."

"When she left my house, March 5, I was away and she did not communicate with me in any way, not even saying goodbye. I did not expect that she would. I only knew that she was the guest of Mrs. Frankenstein's friend. She was her guest, not mine. If I could tell the police or anyone else a single thing that would help in solving the mystery surrounding Miss Reed's death I certainly would. But there was nothing about Miss Reed's actions

BEER BOTTLE IS USED AS CLUB; VICTIM DYING

MARTINEZ, March 14.—Rocco Lobello, prominent in Martinez as a fish dealer, is believed to be dying and Herman Costa, also a fish dealer, is in the county jail accused of having beaten Lobello in a fight that is the culmination of a family and business feud of years standing.

Lobello is the accuser of Costa, though Costa is the number of witnesses to the quarrel.

According to the story told the sheriff Costa and Lobello met last night in a saloon. Costa is asserted to have said that on Sunday he would beat Lobello to death. There were threatening words and Lobello is said to have left the saloon again the rear door. At the same time Costa went out the front door.

What followed was not witnessed by any except the principals, but the story told by Lobello before he collapsed indicates that Costa attacked Lobello with a beer bottle and that, after he broke the weapon over Lobello's head, he took the jagged edge and stabbed his victim repeatedly, inflicting serious wounds.

Shock and loss of blood is expected to be fatal.

Blood and broken bits of the bottle show that the men fought for a distance of more than a block.

A half-hour or so after the men departed from the saloon Costa came again. Those who saw him said he was white and trembling and that his clothes were blood-stained. Before Costa could make any explanation, Lobello, who had collapsed, indicated that Costa attacked him with a beer bottle and that he beat him with a beer bottle.

Formal charges will not be filed against Costa until the result of Lobello's injuries is determined.

or appearance that could in any way disclose her condition."

The old father bowed his head in silence when told that his beautiful daughter would not be home, that she was the girl whose body had been discovered in the lonely canyon, where her hand upraised in mute appeal had been seen by a workman on his way to his labors.

The father is a pump watchman for the Contra Costa Water Company.

About two weeks ago he visited his daughter in Oakland upon her return from a furlough from Fort Riley.

At that time he asked her to come home for a rest and the request was granted.

In her stepmother's words,

"She had never seen her."

The girl promised to make the visit and the little Concord home was being arranged for her reception. Her father could not understand.

Detectives Trail Nurse's Murderers Follows Clew to Inez Reed's Slayers

know. Inez was not a girl easily attracted to men, and I cannot recall a time when she talked especially of any man who was more than a friend. That is the one thing that is puzzling me, and I was unable to find out what she might have been thinking of when she might have been more than ordinarily friendly.

Mrs. Frankenfeld, of Eleventh street, Oakland, whose house number, by a peculiar coincidence is 744, the same as that of the dead girl's sister, the only two addresses in the two cities where she is so far shown to have been known, was greatly shocked by the discovery that the murdered woman is her friend. Mrs. Frankenfeld had become worried by the close resemblance of the clothing to that which was worn by Miss Reed on her departure from the Eleventh street home and last Wednesday night telephoned to Mrs. Stephens communicating her fears. The telephone message, together with a dream experienced by Mrs. Stephens, in which the dead sister appeared to her, caused the brother-in-law to go to the morgue and communicate to the police the information that led to the identification.

Now that the identification is finished the detectives have been assigned to the task of running down the girl's relatives, and all the operations available have been assigned with great care.

That an establishment exists in San Mateo county where illegal operations are performed, and that Miss Reed's death will be traced to that place, was the opinion expressed yesterday by Captain of Police John O'Meara. O'Meara said he has a tip that ultimately will lead to the arrest of the persons who caused Miss Reed's death and then cynically threw the body away in the San Mateo canyon, on the road to Half Moon Bay.

CLEWS ARE SOUGHT BY INVESTIGATORS.

Mrs. Frankenfeld has suddenly become the chief witness in the notorious case since she has been consistently interviewed by operatives to give the identification and detection have searched her home in an effort to find some clew that will lead to the identification of any man with whom the girl was on terms of intimacy. Mrs. Frankenfeld has lived at the Eleventh street number for the past six months.

Prior to that time, according to what Mrs. Frankenfeld told the police, she had lived at Hermosa Beach near Los Angeles, with her husband, George Frankenfeld.

Under questioning by Detectives McConnell and Gallivan, Mrs. Frankenfeld disclosed all knowledge of Miss Reed's physical condition prior to her disappearance, and declared that she knew nothing of Miss Reed's movements after the morning of March 3, when Miss Reed left her and told her that she was going to visit friends in Marin county.

Mrs. Frankenfeld told the detectives that she had known Miss Reed for several years.

On February 23, she said, Miss Reed had come to her in Oakland. She understood that Miss Reed would have to begin her return journey to Fort Riley on the Monday following March 3.

ASKED TO BE TOLD WHERE TO FIND DOCTOR.

Another important witness whom the police are questioning closely is W. E. French, a shipyard worker, who lives at 136 Griffith street, San Mateo, who visited the morgue and positively identified Miss Reed as the girl who was found on the street in San Mateo last Thursday night and asked to be directed to a physician. He said:

"I was standing on the corner of Second avenue and B street, when I noticed a large, dark limousine with two occupants standing across the street. They stood there some time when a lady left the car and approached me and said that she was very ill and must have immediate attention.

"The other person in the car seemed to be a driver. He did not help the woman alight and remained in the machine."

"The woman seemed in great trouble and directed her to the office of Dr. G. W. Sevenmas, which is in the building in front of which I was standing."

When French left for home, fifteen minutes later, the automobile was still standing where he had first seen it.

"There is no question about the clothes being the same because I packed them out the first time I saw them at the morgue. Although the woman was veiled when I saw her in San Mateo, I would recognize her mouth which I noticed particularly."

KNEW GIRL THEN.

SHE WAS MURDERED.

Another witness who has been seen in connection with the effort to trace the movements of the girl before the final tragedy befell her, is Mrs. C. H. Edwards, wife of an Oakland shoe dealer, owner of the home at 744 Eleventh street, who knew the girl when she was a nurse at the Merritt Hospital. Mrs. Edwards says Miss Reed left the house on March 3 announcing that she was going to visit friends in San Francisco and expected to return March 6, last Thursday.

"Miss Reed was always in a happy frame of mind and seemed to have nothing that would distract her," said Mrs. Edwards. "She received many calls during her stay."

The police are of the belief that the gray limousine with the mystery couple that drove to the Hotel Mattoe early last Friday morning, was in some way connected with Miss Reed's death or the disposal of her body.

Born in Antioch, Miss Reed had spent her early years in an orphanage in Alameda county, her mother having died when she was a child.

She received her training as a student nurse at the Merritt Hospital in Oakland, from which she was graduated in 1914. She worked as a field nurse in and around Oakland and sought service with the army after the United States entered the war.

Miss Reed was stationed at the Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio from April 10, 1918, to October 10 of the same year.

Subsequently she was assigned to duty at Fort Riley.

Miss Reed was not registered as a nurse with the American Red Cross. It was explained at the Letterman Hospital yesterday that her rank here was that of a reserve on active duty with the army corps of nurses.

In addition to father and sister, Miss Reed has a brother, Arthur A. Reed, who lives at 803 Diversadero street, San Francisco.

At the hospital yesterday those who remembered her as a graduate nurse coming in and out with special patients spoke highly of her.

She was rather quiet, always which she was killed, and her fall surprised us to keep the engagement surprised us very much, particularly as it was not her habit to disappoint anyone. The remarkable thing about the murder to her aunt and cousin is the manner in which she met her death, for she had no men friends that they knew of, and had never expressed affection for any man. At the numerous parties at the Wightman home at which there were male guests, Miss Reed would frequently leave the gatherings to go for a stroll with girl friends.

Stevens and the girl's brother, Arthur A. Reed, said that the identification was made absolutely positive by depression at the roots of Miss Reed's hair in the center of the top of her forehead. This mark, they said, was left by a round that she received some years ago from a ball given at a May-day celebration. Another peculiarity that made their identification certain was the deformed right index finger.

Detectives Frank McConnell and Charles Gallivan found among the effects of Miss Reed at the home of Mrs. Frankenfeld a number of letters from nurses and friends, including men at the Letterman General Hospital and a man at Clafin, Kas.

But all of these letters were entirely of the casual kind, with nothing to indicate anything more than ordinary friendship.

War Success Due to Medicine: Wilbur Tuberculosis Society Elects Officers

"Modern medicine under the test of war has shown itself to be one of civilization's greatest resources."

So said Dr. George R. Wilbur, president of Standard and Poor's, last night at the annual meeting of the Alameda County Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. He told of the new age of preventive medicine due to the war.

The meeting and annual dinner took place at the Hotel Oakland, the election of officers being the principal business of the session.

Dr. Wilbur, the speaker of the session, in telling of the new medical ideals of modern medicine, said:

"Modern medicine has under test of war shown itself one of civilization's greatest resources; it has selected the soldier, kept him fit, repaired his ravaged health, saved him from injury or sickness, and has helped to bring the maximum number of people working behind the battle fronts. An army without competent medical service with full equipment would be a sorry joke in these times."

SIMILAR COMMUNITY PROBLEMS.

"A community has many of the problems of an army and is entitled to the same kind of medical direction.

No doubt there are soldiers in every army who see no advantage in the orders of the medical staff and who object to them, but no one is foolish enough to urge that their opinions be given weight in the conduct of the training staff. Yet in our domestic problems we pay too much attention to the uninformed and unwilling, but chatty minorities that are always with us sitting hard on the brake and protesting when we are moving forward."

"We need more wide-awake people that keep up with the new facts of the world, and fewer protestants who live in the past and ignore the changes in progress."

"Education is the background of progress. In a democracy it is our only hope. We must increase our knowledge of information on host of vital topics such as water supplies, rural and industrial sanitation, mosquito and fly control, venereal diseases, vaccination against disease, control of vermin, prevention of fires, control of epidemics, prevention and control of diseases, etc."

"We must refuse to set our pace with the protestants and the unwilling. There is always and will always be a noisy minority that will be drawn forward as we go, much as in a narrow hat the same in manner that a reluctant cat pointed north goes south when there is a strong pull on its tail. In fact we can measure our progress to some extent by the degree of vociferousness of the reluctant cat."

"But we must look ahead. It is our duty to the future. Our children must inherit our treasure of acquired knowledge used and tested so that they may help to build a civilization of peace, happiness and securities."

OFFICERS AND COMMITTEES.

The officers chosen were reported on by the nominating committee headed by Dr. P. P. Abbott, this report being voted in at the meeting and accepted. The officers chosen are:

President, Judge Charles D. Snodgrass; first vice-president, Harrison S. Hubbard; second vice-president, Mrs. Allen McCallum; treasurer, L. Taylor; secretary, Miss Anne Florence Brown; Directors — Dr. Philip F. Abbott, Dr. I. W. Browning, Ezra W. Decoto, Mrs. Charles A. Chapman, Justice John L. Deacon, Dr. Edward N. ## "FAKE" ASPIRIN WAS TALCUM

Therefore insist upon genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin"

Millions of fraudulent Aspirin Tablets were sold by a Brooklyn manufacturer which later proved to be composed mainly of Talcum Powder. "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" are the true, genuine, American made and American owned product marketed with the name "Bayer Cross."

Ask for and then insist upon "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" and always buy them in the original Bayer package which contains proper directions and dosage.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoacetylacetide of Salicylicacid. -Advertisement.

Galloway to Quit*Civil Service Board

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Charles H. Galloway, member of the Civil Service Commission, whose resignation was announced yesterday, has been called for by President Wilson.

son, announced that he would resign within a few days.
"At the proper time," he added, "I shall probably make a statement of the real reasons for the request for my resignation."

The appointment of a successor to Galloway has been withheld pending receipt of his resignation.

TANK BOYS HOME FROM ARGONNE

Eighty-two men and one officer are included in the casual detachment which passed through Oakland yesterday afternoon on its way to the Presidio for demobilization. One man from Oakland and one from Alameda represent the East Bay district in the detachment.

Most of the men are tank fighters and were actively engaged in the tank warfare during the Argonne forest battle. The detachment arrived at the Oakland mole at 2 p.m. and was entertained at the Oakland Red Cross canteen before going to San Francisco.

Twenty members of the 12th Infantry were in the detachment and told of the joy in the regiment when the order to march across the continent was countermanded by the War Department. Sergeant W. Degen, 151st Eighth street, Alameda, one of the men who arrived yesterday, is a member of the 12th Infantry. Degen told how their last assignment had been to march across the continent for observation and research purposes and how the order was canceled less than a week before the men were to have started.

A detachment of 291 soldiers from Yaphank, New York, and another detachment from Camp Kearny arrived in San Francisco this afternoon and were the first men to be accepted in San Fran-

COERCION OF MILK MEN IS CHARGED

SACRAMENTO, March 14.—Charges were made before the legislative committee on the high cost of milk, eggs and bread, of conspiracy and peculation, or combination between milk producers' associations and distributors of Alameda county that had resulted in driving at least one independent milk dealer out of business and had forced against their will small dealers into the organization.

This action, according to Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon, representing the Alameda County High Cost of Living League, had throttled competition led to higher price for milk than production cost warranted, and created a situation whereby dealers did not dare sell to the consumer at a lower price than that set by the alleged combination.

Mrs. Cleverdon declared that she believed the price of milk to be too high and claimed that waste in distribution was one of the prime causes.

ALLEGED PERSUITIONS.
The witness launched into details of two years' campaign on milk prices in Oakland and Berkeley, asserting that all sorts of persecution had been directed against dealers to force them into a dealers' combination.

Senator Herbert W. Slater, chairman of the committee, said Oakland officials and Miller will be subpoenaed to testify as to the conditions she described.

The witness also alleged she had seen a clause in a contract as to eggs by which producers were to sell only to recognized brokers of the San Francisco Dairy Exchange.

She said she had heard dairymen over telephone order milk to be dumped, rather than be put out to consumers, when the supply was large. It has been given away.

J. W. Scott of Coates, a farmer and dairyman, declared that co-operative dairy started there by dairymen had been forced out of business a loss of about $10,000 by the Milk Producers' Association.

"Milk is being sold at a price not warranted by the cost of production," testified Senator W. E. Brown.

PRICE DISCUSSION.

Brown said that was based upon statements of a principal dairyman in Los Angeles, who had shown him records and had declared that 10 cents a quart would be just price to the consumers who now pays 13 cents.

The senator said that the chief cause of the high cost of milk was the milk producers' organization, which he charged was a conspiracy in restraint of trade and was intimidating dealers.

The committee is arranging its session in San Francisco for Saturday and Sunday at the Ferry building. Among witnesses are A. E. Freitas and C. C. Mariano, Associated Milk Producers; H. C. Lusk, Lusk Dairy Delivery Company; W. E. Hale, United Milk Company; A. E. Green, Liberty Dairy Company; Frank Robb, Millbrae Dairy Company; J. Marlin, National Ice and Cold Storage Company; Supervisor Fred E. Hulmer, dairy products; Supervisor Joseph Mulvihill, milk distributor.

SANTA BARBARA, March 14.—The estate of Major Charles Julian Matland Mackill Crichton of the British army, who was killed in France on September 15, 1915, has been ordered distributed to his widow, Mrs. Sybill Twynshoo Erie Mackill Crichton, as trustee, for herself and three minor children.

Twynshoo Erie Mackill Crichton was a chief stockholder in the famous Elwood Cooper ranch in Santa Barbara county. The bulk of the estate lies in Fife and Perth, Scotland, and is estimated to be worth $1,000,000. The will was probated nearly three years ago.

Major Crichton was a well known golf and polo player. His holdings in Los Angeles county were valued at $52,116.

SICK HEADACHES ENDED WHEN SHE USED THIS TONIC

This Illinois Resident Was Freed from Torture by the Treatment So Many Recommend

Victims of sick headaches frequently spend years experimenting with all sorts of pain-deadening devices in efforts to find relief from torture. In cases of violent headache the stomach is often upset, causing nausea, light and noise add to the pain. Loss of memory sometimes takes place and the victim is forced to take to his bed.

Medical authorities, in treating attacks of this kind, recommend that a remedy should be used that will be directed at the removal of conditions causing the attacks. The mere deadening of the pain by drugs can give only temporary release from pain and will not guard against a recurrence of the attacks. These headaches are caused, in a great many cases, by thin blood which leaves the nerves under-nourished. A builder that restores the blood and thus affords nourishment to the starving nerves will bring relief.

An ideal blood tonic that has brought happiness to many people who had despaired of finding relief was used by Mrs. Martha Bomball of No. 1512 E. Grand avenue, Decatur, Ill., who says:

"I have suffered from sick headaches for a great many years, and when my husband died suddenly a short time ago the shock increased my suffering. My nerves had given out entirely and my strength wasted away at an alarming rate. I was tired all the time and breeded a great deal. I had severe pains around my temples and back and was forced to spend many hours in bed. My appetite was poor and I couldn't sleep."

"I read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper and took one box. My headaches were less severe and I was so gratified with the result that I continued the treatment. I no longer have headaches and have regained much of the strength which I lost. I eat well, sleep well and feel stronger and better in every way. I have recommended the treatment to my sister and to friends and am sure they will find that it is great benefit."

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood" and "Diseases of the Nervous System."—Advertisement.

A MOTHER'S STRENGTH

Mother, whose hands rock the cradle, often needs more than ordinary food to help maintain the blood-quality and strength and to assure adequate nourishment to the child. It is as unwise for the mother, as it is dangerous to the child, to place dependence upon alcoholic stimulation, for strength is not found in alcohol.

Major's Estate Will Go to His Widow

SANTA BARBARA, March 14.—

The estate of Major Charles Julian Matland Mackill Crichton of the British army, who was killed in France on September 15, 1915, has been ordered distributed to his widow, Mrs. Sybill Twynshoo Erie Mackill Crichton, as trustee, for herself and three minor children.

Twynshoo Erie Mackill Crichton was a chief stockholder in the famous Elwood Cooper ranch in Santa Barbara county. The bulk of the estate lies in Fife and Perth, Scotland, and is estimated to be worth $1,000,000. The will was probated nearly three years ago.

Major Crichton was a well known golf and polo player. His holdings in Los Angeles county were valued at $52,116.

SICK HEADACHES ENDED WHEN SHE USED THIS TONIC

This Illinois Resident Was Freed from Torture by the Treatment So Many

Recommend

Victims of sick headaches frequently spend years experimenting with all sorts of pain-deadening devices in efforts to find relief from torture. In cases of violent headache the stomach is often upset, causing nausea, light and noise add to the pain. Loss of memory sometimes takes place and the victim is forced to take to his bed.

Medical authorities, in treating attacks of this kind, recommend that a remedy should be used that will be directed at the removal of conditions causing the attacks. The mere deadening of the pain by drugs can give only temporary release from pain and will not guard against a recurrence of the attacks. These headaches are caused, in a great many cases, by thin blood which leaves the nerves under-nourished. A builder that restores the blood and thus affords nourishment to the starving nerves will bring relief.

An ideal blood tonic that has brought happiness to many people who had despaired of finding relief was used by Mrs. Martha Bomball of No. 1512 E. Grand avenue, Decatur, Ill., who says:

"I have suffered from sick headaches for a great many years, and when my husband died suddenly a short time ago the shock increased my suffering. My nerves had given out entirely and my strength wasted away at an alarming rate. I was tired all the time and breeded a great deal. I had severe pains around my temples and back and was forced to spend many hours in bed. My appetite was poor and I couldn't sleep."

"I read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper and took one box. My headaches were less severe and I was so gratified with the result that I continued the treatment. I no longer have headaches and have regained much of the strength which I lost. I eat well, sleep well and feel stronger and better in every way. I have recommended the treatment to my sister and to friends and am sure they will find that it is great benefit."

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood" and "Diseases of the Nervous System."—Advertisement.

DECORATIONS FOR BIG AUTO SHOW DAZZLE

Cars are being given their final touches today and tomorrow and will then be rolled in upon the floor of the auditorium in readiness for the opening of Oakland's automobile show Monday night at 8 o'clock.

The plans are complete to the last detail and Manager Walter Hempel declares that the final touches are being placed on the big show space that every car and every exhibit will be in place at opening time and that there will be no hitch or last minute rush. The decorations have been brought into place and they look fine.

Even men of newspapermen, the hardest men in the world to get a word of praise from, have opened their eyes in wonder at the beauty of the big show.

Greenery and flowers and electric lights and streamers of illumination make the interior of the auditorium a mass of beauty.

Great arches of greenery mark the entrances to each of the aisles, which divide the exhibits and bowers of greenery mark each exhibit. On the ceiling are clusters of lights enclosed in greens, making one "great beauty." Next, where "King Motor" is set, the scene of transportation methods, the best and fastest on earth so far.

Over a million dollars' worth of cars are on display and include almost every make on the American market, a good display of trucks and tractors and complete accessory display.

H. C. Capwell, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will officially open the show Monday night at 8 o'clock before a record throng, according to the advance indications available now.

Dealers are here from all parts of Northern California ready for the opening.

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieves the Ailments of Change of Life.

"During Change of Life I had hot flashes, dizzy spells and every month I was wild with misery. I had a constant, dull pain, and would always feel tired. I suffered in this way for five or six years and was treated by a physician and took different remedies without benefit. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me and I took it, and I believe I would never have been well if it had not been for the Vegetable Compound. Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am recommending your medicine to all women ailing as I was, for I think it will carry them safely through the Change of Life, and relieve the ailments that come at that period"—Mrs. Alexie C. Nangle, Galatia, Ill.

Women who suffer from nervousness, "heat flashes," backache, headaches, and "the blues," should try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. ABSOLUTE AUCTION SALE
Final Statement*Prior to the Sale

This Sale Commences Tomorrow, Saturday, at 2 P. M. and will continue on Sunday and following days on the property under a mammoth tent located at the corner of Colusa and San Pedro avenues, at Thousand Oaks station, Berkeley. It will be conducted Rain or Shine.

For the past three weeks we have been advertising this enormous sale, endeavoring to bring before the public the following facts:

That there are 3000 lots that must be sold.

That the sale is a genuine, bona fide auction sale.

THAT THERE WILL POSITIVELY BE NO BY-BIDDING, RESERVE OR UPSET PRICE ON ANY LOT

That the property ranks foremost among the Eastbay Developments.

That it is a firmly established, well built up Community.

That hundreds of beautiful homes surround the lots to be sold.

THAT OVER A MILLION DOLLARS HAS BEEN SPENT PUTTING IN IMPROVEMENTS AND BEAUTIFYING THE PROPERTY

We have given evidence that well located real estate is the safest and best investment you can possible make.

That more fortunes have been made out of real estate than any other form of investment.

We have endeavored to remind you that Berkeley and Albany are still in their fancy and that they are destined to grow.

All that one has to do is to look back ten years and recall what has happened to real estate values in these cities.

We have shown that we are now on the eve of considerable building and real estate activity which is already being felt in the Eastern Cities.

WE HAVE CALLED ATTENTION TO THE FACT THAT AN ABSOLUTE AUCTION SALE IS THE BEST WAY TO BUY PROPERTY.

That at an absolute auction sale there is no schedule of prices to be obtained.

That anyone who buys at this sale does so at his or her own price.

That the owners only require 10% of your bid at the time of sale.

That you have thirty days to arrange your finance before you pay the additional 15%.

THAT YOU DO NOT HAVE TO PAY ONE DOLLAR OFF PRINCIPAL FOR TWELVE MONTHS.

THAT YOU HAVE THREE YEARS TO COMPLETE YOUR PAYMENTS.

THAT LIBERTY BONDS WILL BE ACCEPTED AT THEIR PAR VALUE

We have endeavored to call attention by a strenuous campaign of advertising to all of the above facts.

We have had very fair response from bargain hunters who appreciate this opportunity, particularly from builders, real estate men and small investors.

But we have not had anything like sufficient inquiry to absorb such a vast offering at one time and that means there will not be much competition at this sale, and

THAT MEANS UNHEARD-OF BARGAINS ARE BOUND TO BE SECURED BY THOSE WHO ATTEND AND BUY, BECAUSE THE LOTS MUST BE SOLD AT ANY OLD PRICE THEY BRING.

A Boom in Real Estate Has Already Started in the East and Is Fast Spreading Westward

Hundreds who did not take advantage of this absolute sale will want to buy afterwards from those who beat them to it.

That means quick Profits for those who buy tomorrow.

BE ONE WHO BOUGHT, NOT ONE WHO WISHED HE HAD

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

If you must have your meat every day, eat it but once a week, and with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, they suffer from a dull misery in the midnay region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to cleanse and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.—Advertisement.

ONCE GRAY HAIR NOT ALWAYS SO

No longer is it necessary for men or women to be held back on account of gray hair. The business world takes keen notice of gray hair nowadays—but why worry, when it can be easily restored to its natural color with the wonder Co-Lo Hair Restorer.

A scientific process discovered by Prof. John H. Austin of Chicago, for developing the natural color of the hair in a similar manner to that of developing the photographic negative. It is positively the only satisfactory and lasting treatment for restoring color to the hair in a mild, healthy manner.

Co-Lo Hair Restorer is absolutely harmless and will not injure either the hair or scalp; it is not a dye; contains no lead or sulphur; has no sediment and is as clear as water—a pleasing and simple remedy to apply. It will not wash or rub off.

Co-Lo Hair Restorer comes in black and all dark shades of brown.

—Extra Strong for Jet Black hair only.

—For all Medium Brown shades.

—For all Very Light Brown, Drab and Auburn shades.

Co-Lo is on sale in all Owl Drug Stores.—Advertisement

OLD ESTUARY WHARF WILL BE REPLACED

That the old wharf and warehouse, facing the estuary along the present side line between Washington and Clay streets, and now almost crumbling through the ravages of torpedoes, must be condemned with the next year, is announced by the Department of Public Works. Plans have been completed for a Washington street wharf to accommodate the Line Transfer Company, now occupying the present structure, thus to be built on the site of the old apron wharf known as "Wharf No. Three," to be removed from the Western waterfront under the new development plans there. The work will cost the city in the neighborhood of $50,000, according to Commissioner Fred Soderberg, the transfer company to pay a rental of $600 a month, increasing with the storage space.

"We are going to use the old piles from apron wharf No. 3 to cut down expenses," said Soderberg. "The present Clay street-Washington street wharf has been propped up, repaired with struts, and handied about all that it can be. It must be condemned. It is becoming positively a menace. It is too narrow. The torpedoes have finished it."

"For the development of $50,000, the city will receive a yearly income of $600 at the start with increases in coming years. In other words, it is a better business deal than most private corporations obtain. The wharf to be condemned will be replaced later with another that can be rented at equally advantageous terms as the demand grows, and the old Clay street wharf, properly rearranged, can be turned over to the Van Ommeren Steamship Company, as their business has increased so that portion of the municipal warehouse that they are now sharing with the Lawrence Company for another tenant."

The Van Ommeren Company has asked for an extension of their leases of space in the municipal warehouse on the quay wall, announcing that with the return of good shipping conditions to the Orient, with the opening of the war moneys, will be needed soon.

The plans of the Department of Public Works provide for passenger terminal and freight facilities at the foot of Broadway, then the transfer company dock, then Oriental shipping facilities on to Clay street, from which point further shipping facilities are planned, occupying every foot of the quay wall on to the shipyards. The Edward G. Conner Company applied for a lease of additional property on the pier now held by the city, and to the east of their present coal docks for a dock system to handle coal and other freight, connecting this dock with their belt line railway. This application is now in the department, and will be reported out shortly to the city council.

A Sure Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid soap from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

In morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffier, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

How the Fulton Playhouse Has "Put It Across"

WHEN THEY SAID "IT COULDN'T BE DONE," FAMOUS MAUDE FULTON AND HER ASSOCIATES PROVED "THERE'S NAUGHT SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS"

To succeed brilliantly where almost every one predicted failure is a keen pleasure; and that probably is one reason why Maude Fulton and her associates—George Eby in the Fulton theater business office, Jane Urban and Paul Harvey and Hugh Knox, with a score of others behind the footlights—have a peculiar art in keeping the Fulton Playhouse at the top of the tides in the world of theatricals in Oakland.

Now everybody knows that the Fulton is a big winner.

Now, everybody knows that the crowds pack the dainty drawing room theater, night and day.

Now, everybody knows that it takes off his hat to Maude Fulton, who had the courage and the wit to invest a fortune in the "drawing room theater of Oakland" last year.

But, a year ago, or thereabouts, it was different, oh, much different!

The croaker was abroad in the land when Maude Fulton bought the former Bishop Playhouse, at Franklin and McReynolds streets. He had much to say.

Few predicted success. Many worried of failure, and not a few sat back and said: "It never has been done—it never can be done."

But Maude Fulton did it, and today her wonderful Oakland stock company is studied by managers and impresarios and actors, the country over, as a model. There's no reason.

Today fifty Oakland merchants are glad and proud to be lined up as associates and friends of "The Fulton" and its caterers to that fashionable playhouse.

Why It Succeeds

There must be a reason. There are a lot of them. Listen to a few.

Why should you listen? Well, in the first place, because the Fulton Playhouse and the Fulton players are an Oakland institution.

Then, it's over the world, every cent that finds its way over the marble slab of the Fulton Playhouse box office goes back to the coffers of Oakland merchants.

It's different with the circus shows that come to town. They're all right. We like them. You like them. But—

The thousands that pour into those traveling shows are drained out of the town, never to come back.

It's different at the aristocratic theater, the factor of both in the civic life of Oakland.

Consider the Fulton

Consider the Fulton theater. It's at Franklin and Fifteenth streets. It's an architectural gem. Its exterior is tasteful, quiet, commanding. Its lobby is trim and dignified. Its auditorium is in sympathy for beauty and comfort. Rich settees, heavy velvet curtains, exquisite stage furnishings, quiet uniformed ushers, polite attaches—all are in the picture that makes the Fulton theater handsome and effective.

But that's only the frame of the picture.

The essence of the life at the Fulton is on the stage.

There are the players—the wonderful company that bears Maude Fulton's name, and that experts concede is the best balanced, most accomplished and skilled organization of players this side of New York—the section, all, of Miss Maude Fulton.

Maude Fulton is young in years, a clip of a woman, but the theater is her world, and she knows that world to perfection.

She who wrote the "Brat" and made a fortune out of it, who who was a star in vaudeville, accepting a salary of $2,000 a week for her stage art in that make the "Fulton" theater a high pinnacle in the art life and the amusement life of Oakland. Indeed, the educational value of the Fulton is unique.

Give the credit. Give the Fulton management credit. Give those superb Fulton players credit. They took a so-called impossible proposition, and made it a thing of life and beauty, of colorful gold and sparkling, full-fruited success.

How was it done?

CAPT. JEBSEN, SPY SUSPECT, STILL LIVING

Captain Fred Jebsen, implicated in a dozen charges of violation of the neutrality and espionage acts, is not dead, according to official advice issued by department of justice officials in Washington today. Information secured through the war department makes it certain, says the announcement, that Jebsen was not drowned in a submarine of which he was in command, as was believed. Since the beginning of the European war in 1914, Jebsen was active in furnishing supplies to Germany, tested his ships in the harbor of San Francisco and prominent in San Francisco society. All his efforts went to aiding the "fatherland" when the war started.

He used his own steamship, the Mazatlan, to coal German warships on the Pacific, especially the Laysan, actively engaged in raids on Pacific commerce.

"DEAD," BOPP TESTIFIES. Jebsen was officially testified "dead" by Franz Bopp, former German consul general, during the trial of the Hindu conspiracy case. Jebsen was named as a defendant in this suit, but was never brought to trial.

Charges against him in this case still stand, however, as Assistant United States Attorney John W. Englehardt tried to dismiss the charges on Bopp's testimony. Bopp testified that he had learned from Germany that Jebsen was drowned when a submarine which he commanded was destroyed by a British mine.

He attended the Palace Hotel Mardi Gras ball in February, 1913, even after the federal authorities were searching for him. His presence there was considered sufficient to keep agents of justice operatives from following him after he had disappeared. He later boasted that he had never missed a Mardi Gras ball and that he did not intend to let the federal authorities interfere with his pleasure.

His escape from this country was made when he disguised himself as a Swedish sailor. Speaking Swedish perfectly he escaped Sweden and the agents which he bought from a Swedish sailor. Later he went to Berlin, where he is said to have entered the Kaiser's service as captain of a submarine.

SON OF GERMAN SHIPPER.

Captain Fred Jebsen is the son of Michael Jebben, prominent German shipper and for many years a member of the imperial Reichstag.

Numerous indictments, several of which are still pending, against Jebsen in the San Francisco United States District Court. Every effort will be made by the department of justice operatives to capture him and bring him to San Francisco for trial.

He was regarded as the center of German spy activities on the Pacific coast and will be brought to trial on charges of attempting to get into military expeditions of the country. On one occasion he was arrested by Mexican authorities, who seized his steamship, Jason. They charged him with landing arms and ammunition at Topolobampo to aid the Constitutionalists, but released him shortly afterward.

MRS. COCKROFT'S TEAM GETS $345

For the third successive day Mrs. Louis Cockcroft's team led in the Oakland Y. W. C. A. finance campaign, according to the reports given at the workers' luncheon yesterday. The team secured $345.

Mrs. Edgar Ormby's team was second with $264 and Mrs. C. W. Carter's team was again third with $132.50.

The speakers at the luncheon were Mrs. Lawrence Draper, chairman of the Pacific coast field committee of the Y. W. C. A., and Mrs. H. D. Norman of the field committee. Mrs. Draper said:

"In your campaign remember that the government turned to the Y. W. C. A. for a tremendous amount of work, and it was the only women's organization which was asked to participate in government activities. It is still asked by the government to do certain work during the reconstruction period.

Beside this work it has the regular peace needs that it has always met; except its field of work greatly enlarged by the problems coming with after-the-war adjustment.

"There are asking the public to contribute for the girls. You are not asked to contribute to the Y. W. C. A. but to funds which are for girls, but which will be administered through the Y. W. C. A.

"There is no finer work which can be done than helping to make the finest type of women of the girls in every community."

KNIGHTS TO ENTERTAIN

The Knights and Ladies of Security, No. 732, will entertain the San Francisco and Richmond members at a dance and social at Blake Hall tonight. At the meeting last Friday four new members were initiated.

February 6, 1919. I suffered from a severe cough day and night. I could neither eat nor sleep and my bowels moved 10 to 15 times a day. After such a day, I was broken down and very weak. I tried everything for a cure with our outfit.

After taking Fong Wan Herb Tea advertised I went to take his herb treatment. After two weeks treatment I am entirely well and am glad to testify to the wonderful results of his treatment. (Signed) Giacomo Giacchetto, 160 4th St., Oakland, Cal.

DISCRIMINATING VOTERS.

Many communities complain of the lack of interest in local affairs on the part of citizens. It is repeatedly charged that the average electorate fails to vote intelligently. In too many instances this is probably true. The municipal election held in the City of Alameda Tuesday demonstrates that at least in one locality the voters know exactly what they are doing.

The sample and regular ballots as printed provided for the election of two members only to the city council. The names of four candidates appeared on the ballot from which a choice of two was to be made. Owing to a resignation last year, Mr. Alfred Latham was appointed to the vacancy on the council. It was believed, and the candidate had been advised, that his term did not expire for two years. At the eleventh hour one of the opposing candidates brought mandatory proceedings in the Superior Court, and it was held that the term of Latham expired with the election, and that three candidates, instead of two, must be voted for. It was too late to print Latham's name upon the ballot. His friends inaugurated a "write in" campaign, urging voters to take the time while in the booths to write in the name of Latham and stamp a cross in the opposite space. This was done to such an extent that Latham received next to the highest vote.

The city council of Alameda has been a most harmonious body. Business has been conducted with despatch and without wrangling. Satisfied with existing conditions and disinclined to experiment, the voters of Alameda re-elected the three incumbents, including Latham, although it was necessary in his case to take the time to add a name on the ballot. The result was no reflection upon the opposing candidates. The people voted on the theory that it was unwise to take any chances of disturbing the present harmonious and business-like administration of the City of Alameda. It is indeed a hopeful sign when the electorate of any community displays the interest and intelligence shown in Alameda.

ANOTHER WARNING.

A useful lesson for the general public should result from the trial being held in San Francisco of a quartet of persons who controlled the financial operations of an enterprise which they styled the "National Defense League." With the aid of this impressive title, the war spirit and effective manipulation of well-known appeals for aid for war charities, they secured several thousand dollars in contributions. It is charged by the prosecution, established by the evidence of the prosecution, and in part admitted by the defense, that practically all the contributions passed to the personal control and benefit of the four or five persons who conducted the "drive."

It may be that the defendants will show that they did not violate the law in applying the contributions to salaries and "expenses" for themselves. This is a point of law for determination by the courts.

But quite aside from that is the fact that the funds raised by public contributions did not go for the purpose which the contributors thought they were intended. They did not get out of the hands of the managers and promoters of the subscription campaign. And this happened because the people and the municipal authorities where the accused persons operated were not sufficiently cautious. They did not insist upon being shown where the money obtained was going and what percentage of it was to be retained by the professional promoters. Had they done this the operators of the "National Defense League" would not have prospered as it did.

This case should also be a warning to prominent citizens in every community against extending thoughtless and indiscriminate permission for the use of their names in connection with appeals to the public for gifts of money. They yield too readily to a request to use their names as patrons and patronesses of such projects. And in every case where crookedness or misapplication of money results these sponsors must take a share of the moral responsibility for inducing other publican.

citizens to part with their money upon false representations.

During the early part of hostilities, and when the whole effort of every patriotic citizen was centered on the question of how to help the nation achieve victory, there was some excuse for some of the failures to take adequate precautions against unnecessary and dishonest appeals to public benevolence.

But there is no longer any excuse for such neglect. There are war auxiliaries already established, thoroughly identified and wholly adequate for all purposes of discharging the public duty toward the men of the army and navy. The people of every community should be on guard against new and unnecessary attempts to obtain public financial support for other projects or to divert established agencies into a field of activities other than that for which it was created.

WHERE THE VICE-PRESIDENT?

Perhaps the man in American public life most difficult to understand is Vice President Thomas R. Marshall. One can't follow his serious mental efforts and his lighter ventures, sometimes called humorous, are so near the ground that they are seldom "seen." For example:

Speaking in Arizona recently on the subject of the league of nations, Mr. Marshall said he would prefer to eat dirt than have another war.

Writing an appreciation of Colonel Henry Watterson for the Louisville Courier-Journal, to be printed in the special "Marse Henry" edition of that newspaper, Mr. Marshall expressed himself cumbersomely, thus:

"Just now the great majority of mankind assume that every principle which made the Republic great has been obliterated by the recent war; that, like Topsy, we were not born but we just grew; that all the theories and principles which Mr. Watterson, with marvelous skill and ability has defended for fifty years, were but the figment of a dream and that, instead of helping toward the present commanding position of America, they were clogs upon the wheel of American progress.

"He is the last of the great editorial writers of America. In the main he has proclaimed the eternal verities upon which I believe the future permanence, stability and prosperity of the American people must ultimately rest, when this fever and passion for unknown and untried things has passed. In the midst of a babel of voices which cry, "Lo here, and Lo there," his has been the one, never-changing, consistent battle-cry. May Heaven let him live long enough to understand that the American people have not only heard but heeded many of the solemn warnings which he has uttered."

Colonel Watterson said on March 4, with reference to the league of nations:

"The League of Nations, so called, is one of those pretty conceits which, after the manner of the copybook maxims, are easier recited than followed or applied. Unlike the wedding gown of the bride of the Vicar of Wakefield, such sayings are current in the popular speech because of a fine, glossy exterior and a melodious sound—not that they will bear analysis or wear well. We know that honesty is the best policy, but no better motive is repugnant to honest men, whilst thieves cannot see it at all."

"But the League of Nations! It is a fad. Politics, like society and letters, has its fads. In society they call it fashion and in literature originality. Politics gives the name of 'issues' to its fads. A taking issue is as a stunning gown, or a 'best seller'."

Now can any one tell where Vice President Marshall wishes to be understood as standing with reference to the league of nations? Why does the Vice President persist in trying to talk on serious matters? After his pre-election faux pas by declaring that the war was a Democratic asset, it was expected that he would keep quiet for some time.

Reports from Europe that this authority and the other hold there is no law by which the German officials of the Potsdam regime can be punished will cease to be issued when the allied governments are able to report that the criminals have been punished. Then the pro-kaiser propaganda will cease.

FOR A NATION OF HOME OWNERS.

No more patriotic movement could be set in motion than one to make the American people a nation of home owners.

A National Association for the Promotion of Home Ownership would be a real constructive movement fruitful in benefit to the American people.

There is much talk now of schemes whereby the government is to furnish every family a home. This, of course, is political buncombe, and will come to nothing. But with proper private encouragement the number of home purchases in the country could be doubled each year. A credit system should be provided whereby it will be easier for the "man in the street" to get out of the street and into a home of his own.

Plans, public and private, for providing such credit should be developed. Employers, municipalities, banking organizations and the Government itself should be enlisted in the work of putting a roof over every family in the republic which is willing to labor to such an end.

Home ownership is the greatest social stabilizer; the most effective antidote for revolutionary radicalism; the safest contribution to political contentment and order.

Charity will not stop social unrest; turning the Government into a huge eleemosynary institution in which the people are like the inmates of a penitentiary or almshouse will not produce a millennium. What is most needed is a spirit of social and public service which will lead to the intelligent application of private capital to the solution of these problems through investment for moderate private and vast social profit, and the provision of the "know how" in home acquisition for men who do not have it themselves.

The way to prevent governmental incursions into fields in which government has no legitimate business is to intelligently organize and support movements for the amelioration, through private agencies of remedial wrongs in the existing order. Here is a field of service for men of large means and broad vision and a real desire to help humanity, rather than to exploit people either financially or politically.—National Re-

NOTES and COMMENT

If there are any who do not understand about daylight saving this year they are entitled to be reminded that while the repeal of the daylight law was agreed to in Congress, the repealing measure got lost in the shuffle of the last days and did not get through. Hence, the clocks are to be set ahead again this summer. *

One of the disclosures of the first presidential trip is that it cost the President $2000 in tips. This will get past without serious consideration at home, but abroad it may be contrasted with how others perform in similar circumstances. President Polk distributed $20,000 in largess on a visit to the czar. His outlay was officially provided for, as a matter of course, but an entry for tips would not look well in an American bill of expense. Hence the carelessness. *

The legislative committee appointed to look into the high price of foodstuffs is reported to have already come to the conclusion that by no possibility could anything be any cheaper. It was realized that there could be some such outcome, though the old war excuse having been removed, there was curiosity as to how the persistence of high prices would be accounted for. As a matter of fact, they are not accounted for—they simply are.

The extension of clemency to those persons convicted of flouting the government will not tend to cure this habit. There is an undoubted feeling that those who were so indifferent to patriotism in a crisis are not deserving of extraordinary consideration now.

When it is left to a vote of the people, propositions to increase salaries of officials generally fare badly. The recent Alameda instance is in point. It is only when official bodies have it all in their own hands that increased come easy.

A dispatch is to the effect that as the German revolution grows the horrors have no limit, and the German papers give full particulars. But the papers would not give the news, and the people would not believe, when the outrages and murders were in progress in Belgium, that Germans could do such things.

The wets were highly elated over the fact that five Massachusetts towns have reanted their dryness. It is regarded as an indication of national reaction. The drys do not manifest particular alarm, though the thoughtful say the sumptuary trend as to cigarettes and Sunday laws may possibly produce such results.

The election of an Alameda councilman by the write-in process is the first instance of the kind that can be remembered. Generally the write-in candidate is ingloriously left.

The strike in Argentina ends grain shipments, and the wonder is if this will ease the United States government in its big obligation to wheat raisers of this country, to which it has pledged $2.26 a bushel, while the Argentine price is $1.18.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS.

Here is a paradox. Manufacturers of women's garments have announced that the wearing of mourning has decreased since the war and the influenza epidemic to such an extent as to be very noticeable. A San Francisco firm announces that normally it sells 250 mourning garments in six months, while the past six months only six were sold. The breadth and depth of sorrow that overwhelmed people seemed to dispose them to brush aside any outward show of grief.—Stockton Record.

It happens that we do not agree with some of the things that are championed by Boies Penrose, Senator from Pennsylvania, but when Gifford Pinchot, whom the people of Pennsylvania elected to stay at home, undertakes a crusade against Penrose, whom the Keystone state people sent to the Senate, we will be forced to confess that Mr. Pinchot is not behaving exactly like a good loser might.—San Bernardino Sun.

If the Bolsheviks really want to exchange Kolomatano, an American citizen held prisoner by them at Moscow, for Debs or Mooney, why most of us are in favor of it. But if the proposition is merely to release Kolomatano on condition that Debs or Mooney be released—well, that's another story.—Fresno Mirror.

The stage passenger for Paradise, after the shaking up he gets on the Neal grade, has the impulse upon arrival to exclaim: "Thank God, Elysium at last!"—Chico Enterprise.

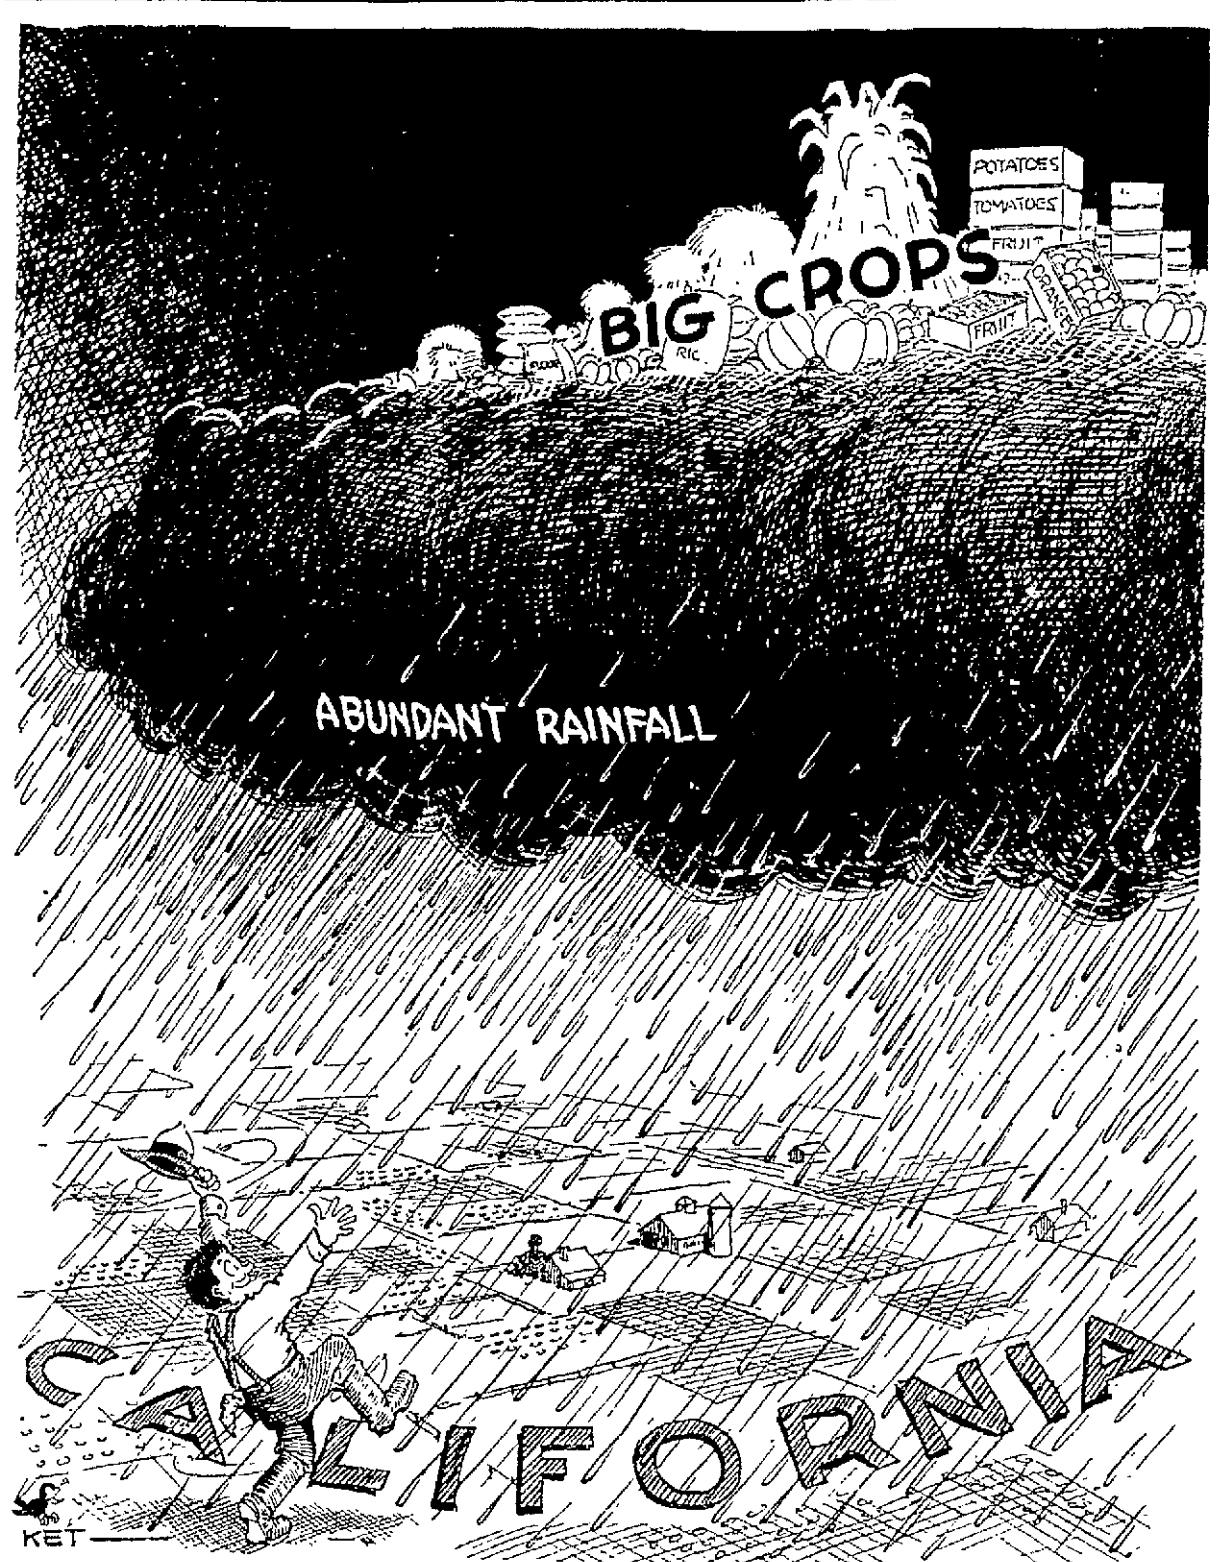

Whenever a man in a public body wants to shut off discussion of a subject he doesn't want discussed he skillfully introduces a topic that diverts the attention of his colleagues. After howling all winter about the cost of butter, milk, meat and eggs, we have now an agitation to bring back the nickel loaf of bread. That sounds good, but does it mean anything?—Stockton Record.

Charity will not stop social unrest; turning the Government into a huge eleemosynary institution in which the people are like the inmates of a penitentiary or almshouse will not produce a millennium. The West, California and Wyoming in particular, will not forget Senator LaFollette, who has been successful in temporarily blocking the oil land leasing bill which would have allowed the expenditure of millions for development of Western oil lands.—San Bernardino Sun.

THE "SILVER LINING."

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

"That Tired Feeling" Mental,

More Often Than Physical

BY DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A. M. D. Johns Hopkins University

Research workers, such as biologists, physiologists and other scientists have come to bat and lined out safe hits which prove that the weather, winds, moisture, heat, cold, sunlight and climate really do produce definite changes in living tissues.

Prof. Vaughan MacCaughay of Hawaii, for instance, emphasizes the fact that there is a widespread feeling in northern climes that a continuously warm climate, unbroken by sharp, periodic changes, is enervating and injurious to white races. This conclusion appears to have many facts to support it.

Under tropical weather conditions, whites should not be able to maintain the sustained work and intellectual effort which is accomplished in colder zones, according to this theory.

Prof. MacCaughay, like many other whites, with his three children lived in Hawaii eleven years. There, free from intense humidity and equatorial heat, this sub-tropical country is cooled by steady winds, which blow almost always from the northeast. In the lowlands the temperature stays around 73 degrees. The white population live American style, and accomplish as much as do the inhabitants of New York, Winnipeg, Duluth, Boston or Halifax.

The whites, bankers, doctors, lawyers, merchants and laborers all work as hard as any other people without evidence of any physical damage.

The same sort of warm weather in New York, Philadelphia or Chicago would make men stop work and rush for resorts.

Men are more apt to believe themselves environs by a warm day in our home climates than in near tropical lands. It is more of a state of mind and feeling than any actual physical disorder.

However, white women seem to suffer more or less from some physical difficulty in hot climates. They are less able to nurse their babies, but these derangements may be more apparent than real.

The white women of Hawaii are mostly the wives of professional and merchantmen, the very sort who have the same disturbances in American cities.

In the end it is perhaps true that there is little evidence of lassitude and enervation among white persons in the Hawaiian islands and other sub-tropical lands.

The human mind and fabric is as vigorous, productive, healthy, industrious and energetic there as it is in any part of the land.

Moreover, men and women who complain of spring fever and that tired feeling, the better terms for lassitude and enervation, must look farther than heat and tropical temperatures for the blame.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES.

GOAT ISLAND STATION MAY MOVE SOUTH

Oakland must add at least 20 cents to next year's tax rate to fulfill contract obligations to several big firms leasing lands on the western waterfront.

This is the conclusion of the public works department and harbor engineer's office after inspection of the plans necessary for the work agreed to be done in connection with the various city leases and most of which has been held up through war restrictions.

The work necessary will cost at least $150,000, according to Commissioner of Public Works Fred Soderberg, and the city, according to its representatives, will have to pay half the cost of the United States navy would be sent to the Pacific coast this summer and be stationed permanently at Coast harbors.

San Diego is to be considered as a location for the only naval training station on the west coast, said Representative Padgett.

"The idea is to move the station from Goat Island to the southern end of the bay," he said. "The two other permanent stations will be on the Great Lakes."

The congressmen today were taken on a trip about the bay. Tomorrow they inspect army and navy projects here and visit two proposed sites for the navy training station. Sunday and Monday will be devoted to a trip to Imperial valley and on Tuesday the solons leave for Los Angeles where they will inspect proposed sites for the navy school.

It was located either in San Diego or near Los Angeles.

Congressman Kettner of San Diego stated today that Camp Kearny will be retained as a permanent camp and that Secretary of War Baker is coming to inspect it and decide what sort of a camp it is to become.

The party is composed of Representatives Lemuel Phillips Padgett, Tennessee; Frederick C. Hicks, New York; William Bacon, Alabama; Carl Vinson, Georgia; William J. Brown, New Jersey; Fred A. Britten, Illinois; and John A. Elston, Clarence F. Lea and William Kettner of California. Representative Daniel J. Riordan of New York did not arrive with the party last night, having been detained at Riverside on account of an automobile accident yesterday in which Mrs. Riordan was slightly injured. He and Mrs. Riordan were expected to arrive this afternoon by automobile.

As a result of a change in its itinerary, the members of the House committee on naval affairs, which was scheduled to arrive in this city Friday, March 21, will not reach here until Saturday morning, March 22, at 7:30. The delegation will arrive in the Owl from Los Angeles, according to word received by the Chamber of Commerce, and remain in this city until the following Monday evening.

At present planned, the congressmen will be given every opportunity to investigate the advantages of the continental side of the bay from a defensive standpoint. A ample time will be devoted to the Alameda naval base and the concrete ship yard. At the plant it is planned to open the congressmen's eyes with several new wrinkles in "pouring ships."

The members of the Chamber of Commerce are bending their energies toward mapping out a program of entertainment for the visiting congressmen. H. C. Capwell, president of the Chamber of Commerce, has called a joint meeting of the committees on naval base and entertainment of the distinguished visitors for next Monday noon, when the arrangements will be completed.

gressmen will be given every opportunity to investigate the advantages of the continental side of the bay from a defensive standpoint. A ample time will be devoted to the Alameda naval base and the concrete ship yard. At the plant it is planned to open the congressmen's eyes with several new wrinkles in "pouring ships."

"Now while there is talk of there being a reduction in the tax rates and while we hear that there will be funds to replace the saloon license losses, I think it only fair to let the public know that there are increases coming that must be met because the city has contracted to meet them."

DIGNITY BY THE YARD,
CHICAGO—Dignity by the yard was ordered for Chicago's superior court. Judges are commanded to wear black robes of specified length, width and design.

The amendment was adopted without a recorded vote.

The original fight over prohibition in the Senate centered around the provision regulating the amount of alcohol content in beverages. The bill probably will come up for final action early next week.

McDonald endeavored to substitute an amendment providing for 2% per cent alcohol by weight for the committee amendment limiting the amount to one-half of one per cent, but it was voted down, and the committee amendment was adopted.

Bruck, one of the anti-prohibition leaders in the Assembly, said the bill was a proposal "to place a higher tax on property depreciated by doing away with the liquor business and I am against it," he added.

SO WHY TRY?
Photograph catalogue says: "I Cannot Sing the Old Songs" other side. "If it Takes a Thousand Years."

WHICH REMINDS US
cannot sing the old songs.
Those chastened strains and mild;
My wife, she will not let me,
For fear I'll wake the child.

DAMP SCALES ARE UNTRUST-WORTHY
The high price of fish, we are informed by the market director, may be laid at the door of the fish dealers.

Women's fashions, we learn from an authority, will still retain a military note. And the note is "charge."

Bishop Pellowe, who occasionally uses this page for a pulpit, recruited this old one the other day: "I've joined the new Don't Worry Club."

And now I hold my breath. I am so worried for fear I'll worry I'm worried almost to death."

But we will wager the bishop he never said this: "I've joined the Merry Sunshine Club."

And now I am afraid; The other women will dress up And put me in the shade.

Today the husband who was hit in the collar with a law book is explaining the stiffness below his ears by the fact that he "caught a code in the neck."

"When he'd gone, Mother looked at me as if I'd poisoned the cat."

"Son," she said, "what can you see in that common Smith boy? Why, his grandfather never came to this house in his life!"

"Poor grandpa," said I. "He missed it, didn't he, Mother?"

"But Mother didn't laugh—she shook her head. And Uncle Robert, sick and Aunt Sallie looked as if she were going to cry."

"That was the beginning. Everybody was somebody on account of some old fellow who'd been dead a half-century, and nobody was anybody for himself."

"You couldn't think for yourself. The Elders always thought, and so, and you were an Elder you had to think the way or make Mother."

"One day after I'd told Mother everything and had Aunt Sallie sit up in her bedroom too mad to trust herself to come out for half a day, and I declared I didn't know what in the world was the matter, I sent myself a telegram, and when it was delivered I kissed Aunt Sallie goodby and told Mother I'd come soon again, and came back to a man's world."

I looked at the young man who is making his own way in the world—and a very dangerous, honest way it is, too—and asked him if I thought of his mother and wanted to cry.

And yet I can't quite blame the young man for wanting to live in the real world, where people do real things instead of talking about things other people did or tried to do some weary time ago—the real world, the man's world, the place where a man is himself, where all the real things happen and happen today, and where Uncle Robert and Cousin Alice and Grandfather Louis haven't a thing in the world to do with the kind of human being the young man makes of himself."

I wonder if it isn't the very best kind of world for him to choose for the place in which to make his way.

The Youthful Day

By Edgar A. Guest.

There's nothing old about a day; It's always new and fresh and bright.

Each morning takes a different way Unto the subtle realm of night.

Sometimes the sun withdraws his face.

Sometimes the fields are splashed with rain.

Sometimes as children we may race On with men and strive for gain.

This day perchance a friend we find,

Or a mate to share our joyous day.

What will bring no man can say Until its round of life is o'er.

And he is young, whither he be.

Despite of care and sorrow's stains.

Who waits with eagerness to see The changes that each morning brings.

86-Year-Old Grows Beans to Aid Army

GREENE, Ia., Mar. 14.—Martin Pitt,

86 years old, determined to do his bit in the war, raised an acre and a half of beans, hoping them and threshing them by using an old-fashioned hand. He raised forty bushels of navy beans. His wife, who is nearly his age, assisted in the picking of the harvest.

The beam of this hat runs out into a narrow point at the side-front, and then tucks back, thus holding down four brightly colored quills.

Why really these days when a dame goes by and you call her a bird it is not a lie. Fine feathers all make fine birds they say, so she's surely a bird in her feathers gay. Though the actual bird that she'd be, I fear, is to judge by the feathers, an ostrich queer.

Adele Garrison's New REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

MADGE IS CONVINCED THAT MRS.*ALLIS IS A DANGEROUS ENEMY.

I understand the grim callousness with which Katherine Sonnet regarded the unconscious figure of Mrs. Allis when she told me that the woman was full of cocaine.

Long experience with drug victims has given her a weary tolerance of the ordinary type, although I could well imagine that if her sympathies were aroused by some one who was really trying to break the bonds of such a habit, no one could be such a loving tower of strength as Katherine.

But, to my unaccustomed eyes, the woman on the bed looked placidly in the light, and the remembrance of the wild girl with which Mrs. Allis had clasped her eyes before collapsing smote my conscience.

"I'm sure that ammonia went into her eyes, Katherine," I said. "Won't it blind her?"

"Not permanently," she returned, coolly. "If she weren't so dead to the world with the effects of that cocaine she'd be screaming with pain now, and be unable to sleep for a few hours. But at the time she was born from the pain in her eyes won't be very fierce, and she'll be able to see all right. I'm sorry she's so full of that drug," she added vindictively. "I'd like to see her suffer a bit."

"Why, Katherine!" I said, reproachfully. "Please, don't say that."

"JUST LOOK—"

"Don't let foolish sentiment run away with you, Madge," Katherine returned. "You are in your bathrobe and the rug beneath it, and I think you'll find your sentimental sympathy will ooze out your finger ends."

My eyes followed Katherine's pointing finger, and I saw that the acid in the bottle I had forced downword from Mrs. Allis's maddened hand had eaten a great hole in the fabric of my bath robe and other ragged holes in the rug where we had stood.

That stuff would have had the same effect on your eye, Katherine, I persisted, "and she knew it, counted on it. Don't you think she deserves to suffer?"

I couldn't answer, for the horror of the fate I had escaped made me faint and ill. Katherine glanced at my sharply, then snatched up one of the sheets from the bed.

"Do you care if I tear this?" she asked, practically, "or will you get me out of it?"

As I suspect, her object was to divert my mind, her ruse succeeded. I was filled with curiosity at once.

"I can spare that one easily," I said. "But why?"

"I must go back to my room and get into some clothes suitable for work," she replied. "I can't take care of her in this rig," she indicated her flowing dressing gown. "And while I'm perfectly sure, I'll stay unconscious while I'm gone, I don't propose to take any chances with her."

KATHERINE'S PRECAUTIONS.

She took the sheet and tore it into strips. These she passed securely around the unconscious woman's ankles and made them fast to the bed posts. With other strips she confined the narrow ankle-width skirts.

A panel skirt solves the problem of having the material look right around the waist and hips, and at the same time allows an arrow to your pleasure around the feet. The lovely crepe de chine gown shown here demonstrates an interesting panel feature; in fact, the individuality of this gown lies in its panels.

A narrow skirt is mounted on a short skirt with a little fullness. Over this narrow skirt fall two panels, which are attached to the waist by pearl buttons. Under these panels run a four-inch belt which is embroidered in midnight blue fibre silk.

The panels are faced with white crepe de chine and turn under where they meet the hem. The lower ends are held to the gathered skirt with white pearl buttons, except for the closing with little pearl buttons.

The blouse is cut with kimono sleeves. These sleeves are loose at the edge, where cuffs of crepe de chine turn back and are held by pearl buttons.

Thin sleeves of white Georgette crepe extend from beneath the kimono sleeve. A little bow of zig-zag embroidery in blue floss decorates these tight cuffs and also outlines the neck.

This model will develop attractively in navy or black charmeuse, using figured foulard to face the panel. Figured foulard is being much used for facing as well as for entire gowns.

The hat which is illustrated with this dress is like the front of the blouse.

The blouse is delightfully new. A broad sailor shape of white straw is faced with midnight blue charmeuse. On the crew and brim are sewed blue wooden buttons, except for the closing with little pearl buttons.

Beaded buckles in emerald green are also much used on white kid pumps, while those of jet will be as popular as they were last year, when worn with white stockings with black clocks.

It's a good thing that you never had to be a trained nurse, Madge," Katherine said when she had again listened carefully to Mrs. Allis's breathing and had tested her pulse. There was, or so I imagined, the least tinge of irritation in her voice, and I couldn't blame her. To her skill, her poised efficiency, my sentimental weakness must have been most irritating.

She was gone but an incredible short time, and when she returned I saw to my surprise that she had on her nurse's uniform, and had in her hand a small kit of simple surgical and medical necessities.

"I never travel without my bag or my uniform," she said in answer to my look of surprise. "I never know when I shall be called to use them."

"And you came out here to rest!" I exclaimed self-reproachfully.

"Dont'!" she said, putting out her hand. "To think what might have happened if I had not come in just as I did."

Lucezia Bori on BEAUTY

Blonde hair is very lovely, reflecting as it does the glints of gold in sunshine and the gleam of artificial light. Blonde girls and women should value the possession of light hair, which is well kept and becomingly dressed, is always a mark of great beauty.

Blonde hair is sometimes difficult to keep light. Sunshine is a great natural bleach for blonde hair, at the same time being very beneficial to the scalp. If your hair is inclined to darken you should sun it as often as you conveniently do.

Sage, tar soap and oily tonics tend to darken light hair. The application of an egg shampoo if the yolk is used will also tend to have the effect of darkening blonde hair.

A teaspoonful of salts of tartar and two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice added to the last rinsing water for light hair will help it keep its color and brightness.

A piece of washing soda, the size of your thumb nail, mixed into a jell of white castile soap and used twice a month as a shampoo will be found beneficial in keeping your hair light and fluffy.

Shampoo for blondes that is said to be harmless and which will brighten the color of light hair is made of equal parts of honey and rhubarb stalks steeped in three parts of white wine.

MASSAGE THIS IN.

Let these ingredients stand for 24 hours after slowly steaming. Then strain and use the liquid as a lotion, wetting your entire hair. Massage this liquid gently into your hair, wipe it off with a soft towel and allow it to dry on your hair.

An inclination to be oily is a great detriment to the beauty of blonde hair. Oil robes the strands of their lustre and makes them look dull and dark. By all means keep your hair from appearing oily. Its fluffy lightness is the chief charm of blonde hair.

The following is an excellent shampoo for blonde hair. It is said to make it light and fluffy:

Bay rum ..... 1 quart
Alcohol ..... ½ pint
Water ..... ½ pint
Tincture of cantharides ..... 1 ounce
Carbonate of ammonia ..... 1 ounce
Carbonate of potash ..... ½ ounce

WAY TO COMPOUND.

Dissolve the carbonates in water, mix the other ingredients, and add all together, agitating thoroughly. Use this lotion from a flask or dropped so you can smear it thoroughly over your scalp. Part your hair with the fingers of one hand while you sprinkle with the other. In this way you will be sure to wet your scalp as well as your hair. Massage your scalp thoroughly and let the liquid dry in your hair.

Another good way of applying a hair tonic is to pour a small quantity into a saucer. Part your hair in spaces of two inches and apply the tonic to your scalp with small bits of absorbent cotton, using only a few pieces of cotton for each application. In this way you will not waste your tonic.

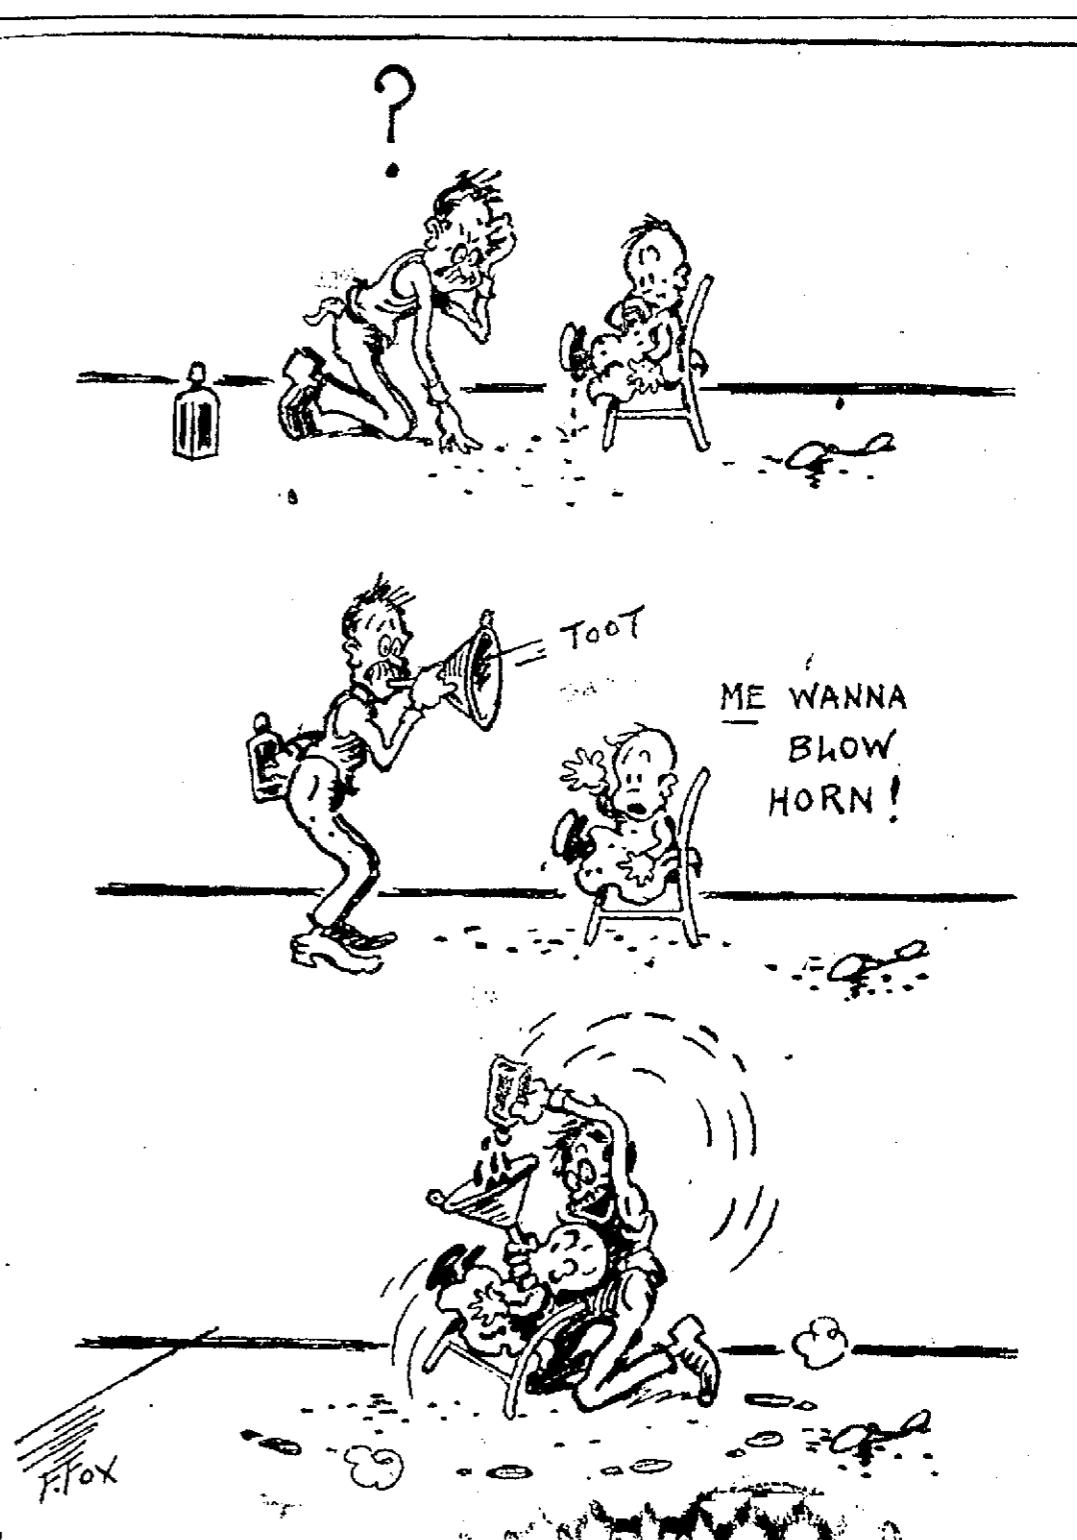

Blonde hair that has a tendency to become gray prematurely may be benefited by the following solution of iron:

Citrate of iron ..... 2 drams
S. V. Venet ..... 2 drams
Cognac oil ..... ½ ounce
Bay rum ..... 2 ounces

This tonic should be applied about once a week.

A feather mass of a pink delight atop of the cap, of a pink as light of chiffon all lined with a soft old blue and bordered with fringe of the feathers indeed.

Women to Close Noble Work in Belgian Relief

By GEORGIA GRAVES BORDWELL

"Closing meeting of the California committee for relief in Belgium and France on Thursday afternoon, April 29, 1919, at 4 o'clock at Miss Bamford's school, end of Hazel Lane, Pasadena.

This is the simple announcement that is being received by the committee and the friends of the committee this week; behind this announcement lies a story of great petitioning, writing to Queen Beauty by King Cheero and the Seven Arts and with it all an enhancing program comprising many of the best features of the previous pageant, with additions. Miss Sophie, Mrs. Charles Clarke Keene will reign as Queen Beauty, accompanied by her retinue of attendants—the jewels of the court—selected from the city's leading families.

It is a momentous occasion, the history of which is to be given by the history of Queen Beauty—torn, bleeding, starving—but never for a moment losing the quality of the moment in the history of the world.

The committee for relief in Belgium and France with Herbert Hoover as the national head, assumed vast proportions before the close of the year.

It became a nation's power and a dancing party with its numerous attractions under Mrs. William Thornton, who will be on the remainder of the evening.

MRS. BURR, AGE 79, GAINS 27 POUNDS

Illinois Woman Suffered Thirty-three Years; Tanlac Brings Relief.

o o o

I have actually gained twenty-seven pounds by taking Tanlac, and while I am now past seventy-nine years of age I declare I don't feel that old by forty years. It was the remarkable statement by Mrs. Clara C. Burr of Bradford, Illinois, R. F. D. No. 2, recently.

Mrs. Burr relates some very trying experiences of Civil War days, one of which was the loss of her husband, who was killed in the great conflict. At the close of the war she moved to Illinois with her parents, in an "old covered wagon," and remained a widow until November of 1915, when she was happily married again, becoming the wife of a prosperous farmer of Bradford.

"Those Civil War days certainly were dark ones," said Mrs. Burr, "and if I should live to be twice as old as I am now I could never forget the terrible suffering and sorrow so many had to go through. There were many hard trials and hardships that came to me, what caused my health to break down later on. But while I have seen the dark and bitter side of life, I have enjoyed the greater part of it, and have always been blessed with fairly good health until about thirty years ago, when all of a sudden I just seemed to eat and drink completely. This was about the hardest trial in my life, as I had always been in the habit of getting out doors, raising chickens, gathering fruit and doing lots of outdoor work."

"I commenced first to be bothered with my stomach. Every little bit ate would sour and form a sort of gas which caused me much pain and suffering. This was probably a result of my heart and I would be short of breath for hours that I could not walk. If I ever tried to walk I would get so tired and weak and eventually I would lose my balance. I never got in such a bad shape that I could hardly sleep, and would just roll and toss all night long. I just couldn't stand a bit of work. The doctor looked at me and almost drove me distracted. I had no appetite and what little I did eat caused me so much pain that I would almost die. I kept going down until I was almost a skeleton. I had lost so much weight that none of my clothes fitted me, and I was so weak that I could hardly walk across the room, let alone do anything else."

"I tried most everything, but nothing helped me, and I had given up nearly all hope of ever being well again. When I was on the lookout trying to find someone to help me, I met a woman of mine who had taken Tanlac with wonderful results advised me to try it. I started on Tanlac and the way it helped right from the start was almost a miracle. I have taken Tanlac both now and have not only been relieved entirely of all my sufferings, but I am enjoying better health than I have in many years. I have a real taste for food to me as they did years ago. I can eat just anything without the slightest trouble afterwards and I simply sleep all night long. I can now easily do all my work including housework, and my strength for a woman of my age is just remarkable. I am perfectly well and enjoy life as well as ever did. Just last week I have asked my doctor to have both taken away and I look as well and it's a pleasure for me to tell them Tanlac. I know as well as I know am here that I own my health and I thank Tanlac for the medicine, and I will always praise it."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by The Owl Drug Company.

VICTIM OF AUTO ACCIDENT DIES

W. H. Barbe, 4260 Howe street, died at the Roosevelt hospital early this morning after being struck by an automobile driven by Elmer Kitzmiller about midnight at Nineteenth street and Telegraph.

The accident was witnessed by Fireman J. A. McCarthy of the Sixth street station. McCarthy helped take Barbe from under the machine and rushed to the emergency hospital and later taken to the Roosevelt hospital. He was found to have a fractured skull. Kitzmiller was arrested on a charge of manslaughter and released on his own recognizance.

What determines the value of a lot?

THEY KNOW!—the score or more of earnest clear-headed people who since our announcement three days ago, have been telephoning—coming into our office—going out on the property—making reservations on Excelsior Boulevard, Lakeshore Highlands.

As one man stated to our sales manager, "At $1200 for a view lot, your Excelsior Boulevard lots are the cheapest property in the Bay Cities—bar none. They have the biggest investment future."

And why? What determines the value of a lot in

Excelsior Boulevard Lakeshore Highlands

Why are Excelsior Boulevard lots far cheaper—far better value at $1200 ($120 cash) than some lots on the outskirts at $200 or less?

Because these beautiful Excelsior Boulevard lots are only 6 MINUTES by automobile from the center of Oakland—its banks, shops, restaurants, theaters—the life of the city—the pulsating business heart of 325,000 people on this side of the bay.

(In no city of this size in the U. S. can you buy the highest-class residence property at such low prices as this—not for long.)

Because Excelsior Boulevard lots are served by TWO CAR LINES, bringing every lot within 1, 2 or 3 blocks, and only 10 minutes of downtown by car.

Because the Grand Avenue KEY ROUTE runs alongside of Excelsior Boulevard its entire length, giving swift 20-minute service to San Francisco.

Because Excelsior Boulevard is within easy walking distance of famous Lake Merritt and Lakeside Park—destined to be forever not only the BEAUTY SPOT of Oakland, but one of the show places of Western America.

(Just think of buying a lot for $1200 near the Lake; in Los Angeles with such an attraction they would be selling for $5000.)

Because Excelsior Boulevard lots have a magnificent VIEW of Trestle Glen, the Piedmont hills, the City and San Francisco Bay—one of the finest views in the world.

Because Excelsior Boulevard lots are permanently protected by RESTRICTIONS—nobody can build a flat, garage or apartment alongside your home and ruin your property.

Because Excelsior Boulevard lots are 1, 2 and 3 blocks distant from three of Oakland's best SCHOOLS.

Because Excelsior Boulevard, eighty feet wide, with its splendid paving, its wide parking spaces, its graceful curves, its double row of shade trees and other shrubbery is and always will be one of OAKLAND'S FINEST AVENUES.

Because the APPROACH by Grand and Lakeshore Avenue past Lake and parks cannot be equaled anywhere.

Because Excelsior Boulevard is right in the heart of the Lake District, buzzing with building activity—where, in fact, 90% of all the better class of homes are being built—where practically everybody figures on eventually having a home.

We maintain that had it not been for the stopping of building by the Government last fall, Excelsior Boulevard lots would today be selling not for $1200, but for $1800 and $2000, and that they WILL for $1800 and $2000 just as soon as the big era of home-building activity now beginning gets in full swing.

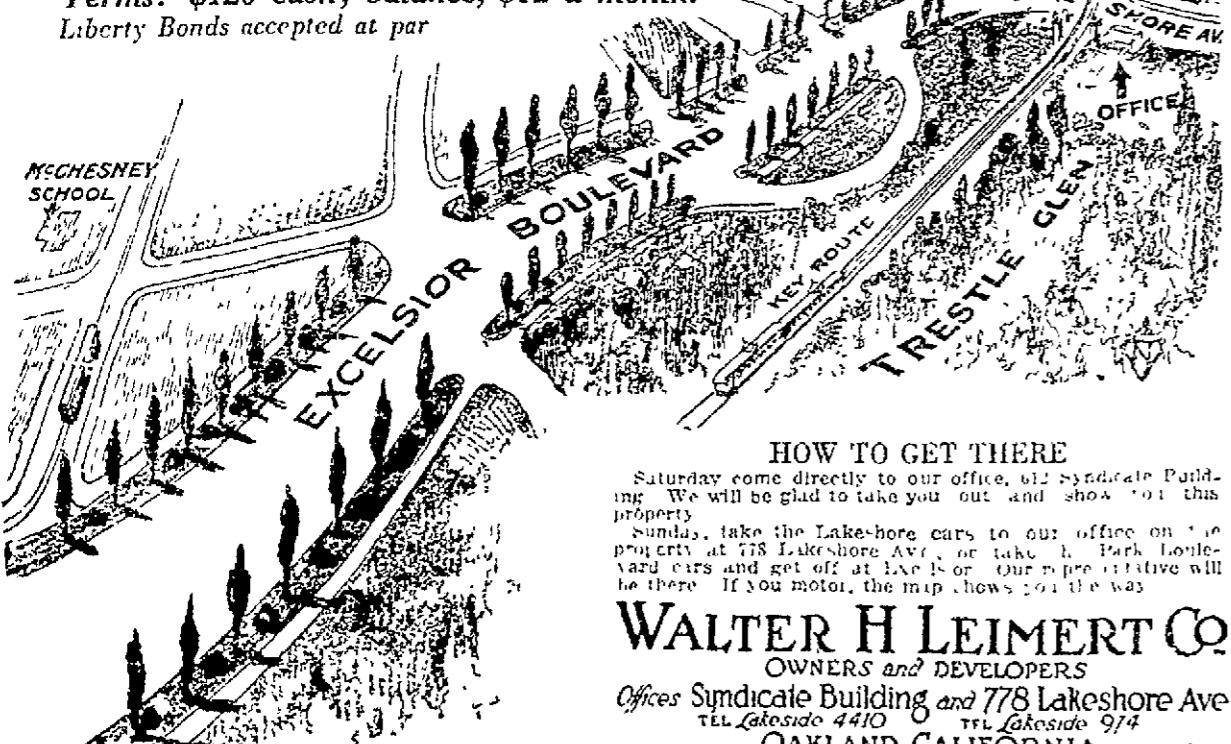

If you are wise you will certainly not think of buying a lot anywhere without making careful comparisons—and THEN—and only then—making a decision you will not regret.

You owe this much to yourself. It is only exercising sound business judgment. You cannot afford to make a mistake where hundreds of dollars of your money are involved. Plan to see Excelsior Boulevard lots today or tomorrow. Determine for yourself that this property is the cheapest property in the Bay Cities today.

SKIPPER OFFERS TO MAKE ANGELS FROM CRIMINALS

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 14.—Captain W. D. Smith guarantees to "make angels" out of the most hardened criminals if he is allowed to choose them above the good ship Success, which was once the old British prison ship used in transporting convicts from England to Australia.

Captain Smith has been exhibiting the vessel in the local rivers and his offer was made when he learned of the wave of crime which is sweeping Pittsburgh.

The Success is to be auctioned in the local rivers and its cargo of 2000 lots remaining in the possession of the Berkeley-Thousand Oaks Company is disposed of. Everything is to go without reservation, and Joseph P. Day, one of the best known real estate auctioneers in the United States, has been brought from New York to handle the sale for the local owners.

This is said to be the largest sale of lots ever attempted in California. No other attempt has ever been made to dispose of 3000 lots at one sale, and real estate dealers and owners from the entire bay district are interested in watching the result. As to the genuineness of the sale there is the guarantee of both the owners, who are local men, and the auctioneer, who is a man with a wider reputation in the east than in the far west.

CONDUCT SALE IN TENT.

The sale will be conducted on the ground near the office of the Berkeley-Thousand Oaks Company on the property. The sale will be conducted by Joseph P. Day.

For several weeks the property has been advertised broadcast. Hundreds of thousands of book-maps have been distributed to prospective purchasers.

Thousands of these prospective purchasers have visited the tracts, maps in hand, to locate lots that appealed to them. The people in charge of the sale have marked every lot plainly and there are little difficulties in locating each with the aid of these maps.

This has given every prospective purchaser a chance to estimate the value of the lot he wants, and to decide how much or how little he wants to pay for that particular property, and to decide upon his second choice.

And so the arrangements for the sale have been very complete. The purchasing public has been given every opportunity to inspect the property, and now the sale is arranged for the regular time—2 p.m. Saturday.

NO PRELIMINARIES.

There will be no preliminaries. At 2 o'clock tomorrow Joseph P. Day will mount the block in the big tent on the grounds, and will begin the sale. It will be up to the public to make the bid.

The sale will continue until all lots are sold with a prospect of running ten days or two weeks.

The Thousand Oaks property is well known. The lots are not in one place. They are scattered from the summit of the hills to the water-front. Approximately 1000 are in the hill section. The remainder are down on the flat in the town of Albany, and run even west of San Pablo avenue, and include El Cerro between San Pablo avenue and the bay.

NIGHTS AND SUNDAYS.

It is now announced that the sale of the Thousand Oaks property will continue nights and Sundays instead of afternoons only, as was originally intended.

The sale will begin tomorrow afternoon and will run through the afternoon, and will be resumed in the evening. Special lighting facilities have been arranged in the big tent and the sale will go on well into the evening.

It has also been decided that the sale will run on Sunday as on every other day. The sale will begin at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and will continue through into the evening.

This has been made necessary by the large number of lots to be disposed of.

POISON MILK PLOT NIPPED, SAYS WOMAN

BERKELEY, March 14.—Mrs. Margaret Christ, residing at 739 University avenue, today notified the police that milk left at her home yesterday had been poisoned by unknown persons.

The milk is being analyzed by city chemists, but thus far no traces of poison have been found.

Mrs. Christ, according to the police today that her suspicions were aroused last evening when in preparing milk for her two-year-old baby she discovered a powdered substance at the bottom of the bottle. She declared that the milk had a decidedly bitter taste when tested in that manner and immediately notified authorities of her suspicions.

Matrimonial troubles of the Christ family have been aired on frequent occasions in East Bay courts. Christ was married without money, as the complaint of his wife, for failure to support a minor child, while Mrs. Christ supplemented her charges by bringing suit for divorce in Oakland. The case is pending.

Harold Russell, a Negro, was in court this morning to explain how he made a living and what he was doing with a bunch of keys he had when arrested.

He said his father owned some lots at Ocean View. But he failed to explain why he had to have keys to vacant lots.

"I guess you need a rest after your excessive work, 99 days," said Judge Smith.

The color combination in the co-lining are most beautiful. Fire is delicate, moving, living mass of flame-colored clouton, the colors blend and merge into yellow. Water is enveloped in soft draperies of pearl gray. The dance is symbolic, full of quick action and altogether fascinating.

ACCUSED ACTOR'S PLEA ILL HEALTH LEAGUE OF WOMEN

When Henry V. Goerner, motion picture actor and model of fashion, appeared in Police Judge Smith's court this morning to answer the charge of failure to provide for his minor son, he was granted a trial date for next month as an excuse. He says he has been unable to follow his profession and presented affidavits in support of his contention. He said he has just secured a position and was about to go to work when he was arrested at Glendale, near Los Angeles, and brought to Oakland.

His wife, Mrs. Jessie Goerner, who lives at 459 Thrity-fifth street, testified against him. She said he only earned $140 a month as an actor.

Mr. Goerner says it was through seeing him in a moving picture that she got a clew to his whereabouts. After Goerner arrived here he spent several days in jail. Judge Smith ordered a medical examination by the city physician.

"Well, I expected to go to work for the railroad," said Clemens.

He failed to explain the connection between working for the railroad and breaking into a Pullman car window for a night's rest.

He was found guilty and will be sentenced tomorrow.

ALAMEDANS TOLD OF DEATH OF SON

ALAMEDA, March 14.—Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Grubb of 221 San Antonio avenue have received details of the death of their son, Richard Grubb, in France. Grubb died of wounds received in the fighting around Soissons. He was a navy pharmacist and was with the marines. Byron Y. Ellsworth, a Portland boy and a friend of Grubb, who is also with the marines, has written to Alameda to give particulars of the death of their son. The letter reads in part:

"Schloss Monrepos, Germany, Jan. 20, 1919. The last time I saw Richard Grubb was at the Wagon Hotel west of Chateau Thierry. He was with the Sixth Regiment of Marines. Everybody liked him. He was very anxious to get into action, but was cool-headed and calm under fire, and a good soldier. I did not get into action at Soissons, but heard that Richard had been wounded, so I visited the hospital there. He was in the 10th hospital, and I visited him at the hospital when he died, though many saw him as he passed through the dressing station at front." The Department of Justice has sent word to the parents that Grubb died at Crepy en Valois. Charles W. Grubb, a brother of the slain marine, is with the 135th ammunition train. He went overseas in March, 1918, and his parents have not heard from him since December.

PRICE OF BEANS,
HELD IN HEAVY
STOCK, IS LOWERBankers Are Optimistic For Future
Reconstruction Problems Met

Acknowledging that the problem of reconstruction is one that presents many difficulties, bankers are optimistic concerning the prospect of an early return of practically normal conditions in California. All the energies of banks and other business men are being directed toward the welfare and satisfaction of progress is reported. The encouraging topic at this time is the income tax question, and when that matter has been disposed of, bankers expect more and heavier work to be along the line of reconstruction work.

Local business is adjusting itself nicely to conditions brought about by the war, and the general public is less afraid to buy, according to the quality of goods for sale. According to what has been learned, the market is now under control, and prices have dropped several cents a pound within the last few days.

Local wheat commissioners purchased 1,000 bushels of wheat for $1.75 a bushel, 1,000 bushels of oats for $1.75 a bushel, and 1,000 bushels of barley for $1.60 a bushel.

The supply of beans in the United States is the heaviest ever seen, and our own experts are said to be the principal reason for the big surplus. A few increased carloads are being sent to foreign markets, but these are not enough to meet the demand of the large export to the Orient and in the Republics of South America. Advantages of having manufacturers in the Orient are being realized, and transportation so that carriage will be reduced to the minimum, are pointed out. Increased sea transportation is expected.

Increased home building in this city is also urged to meet conditions that will necessarily arise with the employment of more workmen here. Additional money must be spent to hire skilled workers, who will require hundreds of skilled and unskilled workmen, many of whom will have families and who intend to remain permanently.

In a general review of the business outlook in the United States the National Bank of the Republic at Chicago says:

"Incentives such as the general optimism and the knowledge of a large accumulation of economic needs in this country will not be overcome.

"The general price level, although not tending to decrease costs, still is considered as adding a certain element of stability to the industrial situation at this time."

"Although the general price level, influenced by certain well known factors, has not yet recovered, there is no doubt that the price reversion is looking back on us, and the intention of returning to peace conditions in many respects has gone to consider the driving energies of the war itself is now lacking, or at least, is reported steady."

ASK NEW ROAD BOND ISSUE OF $39,500,000

LABOR NOTES

Local labor unions affiliated with the Pacific Coast Metal Trades District Council are balloting this week on the referendum on Japanese immigration, at the recent convention of the council in Portland. The referendum carries a forty-four-hour working week clause, provides for the reclassification of workers in shipyards and outside shops, and calls for a wage scale of $8 a day for the basic crafts. 570 helpers and 56 other workers.

A number of the local unions have already voted on the proposition, among them being the structural iron workers, machinists, shipyard laborers, coppersmiths, ship riggers, ship plumbers and steamfitters, ship carpenters and caulkers. The local ironworkers of California is the plan of the Japanese, according to Senator Phelan, who accuses the Japanese of aiding the smuggling of Japanese into this state.

A few days ago Senator Phelan sounded an alarm by asserting that Japanese "picture brides" constitute a great menace to this state by reason of the fact that their children are placed in possession of property as native-born citizens of this country, and that through this means the Japanese are getting control of some of the most valuable agricultural land in the state.

The Japanese delegation to the original state highway system, and the state to compete in their respective the eight cooperative federations in the highway act of 1913, including return to the several counties which have expended monies on these eight cooperative federations, until after the close of the conference of shipbuilders and workers which opened in Washington, D. C., March 17. Should that conference fail to reach an understanding as to wages and hours to be in force after the expiration of the May award on March 31, a conference arbitration committee will be appointed for a wage scale of $8 a day for the basic crafts, to be determined at a public hearing in the assembly chamber last night.

The committee's report, read by James S. Mitchell of San Francisco, follows:

Executive committee's recommendation to the legislature on the new state highway bond issue:

PROPOSE 27 NEW ROADS.

For the construction of the original state highway system, and the state to compete in their respective the eight cooperative federations in the highway act of 1913, including return to the several counties which have expended monies on these eight cooperative federations, until after the close of the conference of shipbuilders and workers which opened in Washington, D. C.,
